

Poster Contest

- Subject: The Journey of the Pod
Guidelines: Incorporate at least two elements from the description of the journey below.
Format: Only entries on 8.5x11 paper will be accepted.
Techniques: Use of media such as pen, ink, watercolor, acrylic, digital...that easily can be reproduced from the original image.

Entries: Updated due date now April 18th please mail to:
The Chocolate Bar, P.O. Box 254, Solebury, PA. 18963

This contest is in association with the Bucks County Chocolate Show, June 1, 2008, in New Hope, PA. The winner will be announced April 20th on the Bucks County Chocolate Show website, www.buckscountychocolateshow.com. The winning poster will be reproduced for sale at the Show and a portion of the proceeds will be donated to Rainforest Alliance. Questions? Contact grt@buckscountychocolateshow.com

The Journey of the Pod

Creating chocolate is a complicated process: Growing a cocoa tree to maturity so that it will create cocoa pods, harvesting the pods, drying the beans and then processing the beans to make the various parts to be used. The beans are then usually sold and refined in different ways, for baking, cooking or eating in a bar. Around the world there are various techniques to create what we know as the chocolate bar. The flavors, textures and shapes can tell you a little about the culture and the influence of the community that they came from.

The Journey of the Pod can begin in places like Costa Rica, Ecuador, Ivory Coast, Dominican Republic, West Africa...places that the cocoa tree can grow. The journey can end in any place in the world. The trade has evolved over time since the Aztecs and Spaniards first introduced us to chocolate.

Please review, sign and submit this form with your entry. Entries must be received by April 18th to qualify.

I understand that by entering this contest I'm waiving the right to reproduce this artwork independently from The Chocolate Bar, giving them exclusivity for reproduction for the sole purpose of activities associated with the Bucks County Chocolate Show.

The winner will be awarded 4 free tickets to the Bucks County Chocolate Show, ipod shuffle and a $50. gift certificate to Utrecht (online ordering is available too)

Signature _____